Janison sign global partnership with D2L

Janison Education Group Limited (ASX:JAN) (“Janison” or the “Company”) is pleased to announce its global partnership with D2L Corporation (D2L), one of the leading learning management systems providers to higher education institutions globally.

Highlights:

- D2L provides learning solutions for millions of learners in schools, higher education, companies, and government around the world. D2L’s global operations are located across Canada, the United States, Europe, Australia, Brazil, and Singapore, with more than 1500 clients in 40 countries and learners in 148.
- Janison’s online exam platform, Janison Insights, can be provided by D2L to any of its client institutions as an integrated component of their online education suite.
- Janison Insights and the D2L LMS, Brightspace, will be seamlessly integrated to support institutions expanding the online learning platforms to incorporate online examinations.
- Go-to-market has commenced and the current market situation with COVID-19 amplifies the need for online full-tier learning services. This new partnership brings to market a holistic, integrated solution that can better address this need..

D2L Brightspace is one of the fastest growing LMS platforms today, and a leader in fully online learning. The addition of the Janison Insights integration will provide D2L customers with expanded online assessment functionality and more compelling reasons for institutions – transitioning from older LMSs that cannot handle the online increased demand required in this environment, or less holistic learning platforms that cannot deliver best-in-class online functionality – to choose D2L Brightspace.

Janison Insights provides online exam platforms and online assessment platforms to many organisations around the globe. It is used for the remote delivery of high stakes English tests in over 80 countries, the online exams for primary, secondary school and college students in Singapore, and for national benchmarking studies with the Australian government and many other governments via the OECD PISA for Schools program.

The delivery of online exams, tests and assessments and the option to supervise and monitor these events using online proctoring software, represents the additional flexibility for institutions who now need to interact and support their students online.

D2L CEO, John Baker said: “Our new partnership brings together great technology from our two organisations that will provide immense benefits to our customers looking for online examination services. We look forward to working with the Janison team as we expand our support and services to include online exams.

Janison CEO, Tom Richardson said: “We are very pleased to be partnering with D2L. This new agreement will allow our technology to be seamlessly integrated with D2L Brightspace and open new markets particularly in the higher education space.

This announcement has been authorised by the Board.
